PAMPLIN

Mrs. Helen Brown of Collegedale, Tenn. recently spent 10 days with her mother, Mrs. Robert E. Fore. Her husband, Elder V. C. Brown also spent sometime in Pamplin enroute to his mother's in Plainfield, N. J. While there he attended part time the 51st General Conference session of the Seventh day Adventist which convened at Atlantic, N. J. June 11-20. Mr. Brown has accepted the position as Principal of the Church School near Plainfield, N. J. He will also teach the 7th and 8th grades. They expect to move to Plainfield very soon.

Mrs. Ruby Clark is visiting her daughter and family in Colonial Heights.

Mrs. Maggie Moore was called to Lynchburg last week on account of the illness of her son Howard Ray Moore of Concord.

Mr. and Mrs. Peyton Johnson of Amherst enroute to the Settle-Gilliam wedding visited Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Caldwell Saturday.

Mrs. Walter Payne Sr. is a patient at Southside Hospital Farmville. Mr. and Mrs. Dick Baldwin and family of Richmond visited his parents last week end.

Mr. Danny Williams is a patient in Virginia Baptist Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Mann are spending their vacation in The Smokies. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Inge spent the week end in Nashville, Tenn. attending the Grand Ole Spray.

Mrs. C. H. Chapman, Mrs. H. C. Eddy and Mr. and Mrs. Dallas H. Yowell, Jr. of Richmond were guests of Mrs. Robert Fore last Thursday.

Hunt Is On For Old Books

Anyone with a copy of Featherton's 'History of Appomattox' can readily find a buyer by checking the "Want Ads" or by calling the Times - Virginian. Another Appomattox book sought by collectors is Calvin Robinson's "History of Appomattox" - used as a text in the public school system some years back. If your spring cleaning has become "summer clean out", please look for these sought-after volumes!

Pastor Speaks

BREAD IS NOT ENOUGH

A recent article in a national newsmagazine told of prominent businessmen and young executives who were leaving their chosen profession to take jobs that made them more satisfied. Sidney Jimenez, a forty-five year old aerospace industry employee, was laid off from North American Rockwell in Los Angeles and promptly bought a Tastee-Freeze franchise in a Los Angeles suburb. Rick Tiefer was head of a New York - based trucking firm that had a 1/2 million dollar business each year. Tired of the unceasing demands of his work, he left his trucking business and opened a Madison Avenue store specializing in women's clothing. Elliott D. Hagle presided over a million dollar a year insurance business, but he was recently ordained as a minister in the United Church of Christ. Up until a few years back he had been in church only a few times in his entire life.

What these people are proving true in their own experiences is that man just doesn't live by bread alone. Jesus, himself, said . . "Man doesn't live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." (Matt. 4:4) Material success alone doesn't satisfy, Pleasure alone doesn't satisfy, Success by this world's standards alone doesn't satisfy. Some of the people mentioned discovered that they had chosen does not satisfy, and so they seek new routes.

The sad fact is that some of the new routes which they seek are not necessarily those that lead to God. They involve themselves in a lifelong search for something that will be satisfying, but they fail to search along that avenue that is satisfying, namely by turning to God himself. Man's life is much more than just eating, sleeping, living, enjoying, and traveling. Man's real life comes when he sees himself as a sinner needing the grace of God and throws himself completely in God's hands trusting the future to him. It is then that man begins to get a taste of the bread that really satisfies, the bread that doesn't wear out or waste away, the bread that leads him unto everlasting life. It's then that men can come to understand what Jesus means when he said, "I am the bread of life. He that cometh to me shall never hunger, and he that believeth on me shall never thirst."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

REVOLUTIONARY?

Lesson for July 5, 1970

Background Scripture: Genesis 1:1-4; John 1:1-13; Romans 1:16-21; Colossians 1:15-27; Hebrews 11:3.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 104: 1-13.

The Book of Genesis a revolutionary book?

It may hardly seem so to us today, but to the ancient world in which Genesis first appeared it came as a startling, revolutionary concept. The Babylonians and Egyptians for example, believed that the gods were in nature itself. This is why they worshipped the sun, the moon, the stars, the great rivers, etc.

The poet of Genesis, however, brought forth the revolutionary concept that God was not "in nature," but above it. Before there was nature, he tells us, there was God and he created nature. Thus we do not bow in adoration to the works of nature, but to him who created them.

A "Beginning" To Things

Another revolutionary aspect of Genesis is found in the assertion that there was a "beginning" to things. The ancients believed that history and time revolved in an unending cycle that had neither beginning or ending. But the poet of Genesis says, "In the beginning . . ." Before there was a beginning there was God who gave both time and history their start. Only God, therefore, is eternal; everything else has its beginning in him.

The ancients sometimes believed that their gods sometimes "blundered" into acts of creation. A God would cry and the teardrops would fall into the sea and become islands. A god would throw a fireball at an enemy and the fireball would become fixed in the heavens, thus becoming the sun.

What a different view we find in Genesis! Here we see God deliberately choosing to create, not by chance or caprice, but by plan and design. We see an orderly universe unfold step by step according to the direction given it by the Creator.

And God said, "Let there be light;" and there was light. And God said, "Let there be a firmament . . ." And it was so. And God said, "Let the water under the heavens be gathered together into one place . . ." And it was so. And God said, "Let the earth put forth vegetation . . ." And it was so.

Here we see a Creator who creates because he desires to create. We see a Creator who creates in an orderly fashion, planning for times and seasons (1:5), planning for an orderly universe (1:7,8), planning by means of an orderly unfolding process (1:9,11,12).

And God Saw That It Was Good

There is something else that Genesis wants us to know. Whereas some of the ancients regarded the material world as evil, a curse from which man needs to escape, Genesis tells us that the world God created is a good world: "And God saw that it was good," (1:10) Genesis finds joy and satisfaction in his work.

Genesis not only was a revolutionary book when it first appeared, but if we take it seriously today, it still has that capacity to startle us.

Too many people get hung-up on the details of the Creation story. Like the details of the parables which Jesus told to communicate important truth, the success by this world's standards alone doesn't satisfy. Some of the people mentioned discovered that they had chosen does not satisfy, and so they seek new routes.

The sad fact is that some of the new routes which they seek are not necessarily those that lead to God. They involve themselves in a lifelong search for something that will be satisfying, but they fail to search along that avenue that is satisfying, namely by turning to God himself. Man's life is much more than just eating, sleeping, living, enjoying, and traveling. Man's real life comes when he sees himself as a sinner needing the grace of God and throws himself completely in God's hands trusting the future to him. It is then that man begins to get a taste of the bread that really satisfies, the bread that doesn't wear out or waste away, the bread that leads him unto everlasting life. It's then that men can come to understand what Jesus means when he said, "I am the bread of life. He that cometh to me shall never hunger, and he that believeth on me shall never thirst."

Vepcoach Making Life

The "Vepcoach," a mobile exhibit operated all operation of Appalachian Electric and Power Company, is now making its debut inside Virginia as part of various locations.

The 10' x 24' trailer, built in 1969 displays information on the latest in mobile home living.

The mobile unit, manned by the activities of Vepco in motion, sounds and slides, travel throughout the company's 32,000 square mile service area.

The subjects are explained by lighted panels, artist's drawings, color photographs, motion pictures and working displays.

The mobile exhibit is under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Roberts, public relations representative.

The unit will be in Buckingham Courthouse on July 9, 10 and 11, in Charlottesville Shopping Center on July 13 and 14, and at the Farmville Shopping Center on July 15, 16 and 17.

During the last week of this uarter we shall think of the ay of Christian liv-
. We are all aware that every business is started in hope of ultimate reward. Time, effort, energy, and capital are all expended to achieve one goal. When there are no favorable results the venture fails. In the kingdom of God there are also investments. God has given His Son, and with Him every needed resource of heaven - grace, power, the Holy Spirit and the ministry of angels. The disciple has also invested his all-time energy, motives and ambitions. Satan has set and sprung many a booby trap. Life's decisions have become permanent, and the Christian reaches the point of no return. There God will arrange all before the judgement of Christ to be judged according to the deeds done in this life. Those who have the proffered aid of heaven, and have chosen their own way will be condemned to perish. Those who have submitted to their Lord and allowed Him to regulate their lives in service to their fellows and worship to Him will be justified and rewarded with eternal life.

FIRST BAPTIST

No good thing will He withhold from them that walk uprightly. Psalms 84:11.

Sunday School every Sunday at 10 a.m. Church 2nd and 4th Sunday at 11 a.m. We are asking all members to please come out and give their support to the church.

The last night of our Revival ended with 2 converts to be baptized and become members of the First Baptist Church.

On June 28, we were glad to have with us Rev. Alfloyd Butler, from Union University of Richmond, Va. He preached a wonderful sermon, "The Old Time Religion."

Rev. Butler was with us because of the illness of our pastor, Rev. Jeffry. Our hearts goes out to Rev. Jeffry and may God bless him and keep him in His care. We also wish him a speedy recovery.

Rev. Butler was served in the dining hall of the church by Mrs. J. A. Hamlett, Miss Shirley Dillard, and Mrs. Shirley West.

Last Friday evening, dinner was served by 3 of the 10 ladies. It was a good success. The food was delicious.

Last Sunday Rev. Garland Thomas, ex-pastor of the First Baptist Church, was a dinner guest in the home of Deacon and Mrs. J. A. Hamlett.

We were all sorry to hear about Master Henry Coleman, who entered Lynchburg General Hospital Sunday for a minor operation. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Coleman, Sr. of Appomattox.

Deac. Hamlette made his first trip Sunday to pick up his riders for Sunday School, after his illness. We are asking all parents to have their children ready so Deac. Hamlette won't have to wait on them.

God died on the cross for us because He loves us. Why can't we love Him by coming to Church?

ADVENTISTS MEET IN NEW JERSEY

Adventists met from 200 countries. Proposals call for more aid to big cities. Some welfare agencies give a "hand-out" but Seventh-day Adventists in America's big city giving are a "Hand up", workers in the Churches community Service program have learned.

More than 30 thousand members were present on the opening day, June 11.

When the Conference ended June 20, Seventh - day Adventist were determined to move into the 1970's with their primary goal – "That The World May Know Christ."

Robert H. Pierson of Washington, D. C. was re-elected President of the General Conference of Seventh - Day Adventists for the next 4 years.

Adventists are people with a purpose to preach Christ's love and gift of salvation through Him that all people may be ready for His soon return to this earth again. Read Rev. 22:10-21 for a complete picture of His Second Coming.
